Monday, December 14, 2020 7:56 am PST by Joe RossignoApple recently shared a list of popular Mac-optimized apps with the M1 chip that are available on the Mac App Store, such as Pixelmator Pro, Adobe Lightroom, Affinity Designer, Darkroom, Fantastical, BBEdit, Instapaper and Twitter. Macs with the new Apple M1 chip offer unprecedented performance, and developers can optimize their apps for the M1 to deliver game-changing speed and... Take a deep breath, and think about a high school dance and try to remember what they were like. Anyone who was preteen probably remembers the clumsy slow dance, new tanks from the mall, and screaming along with every word of the pop radio hits. Songs from the late 1990s and early 2000s may seem like a distant memory now, but at the time, many of them were iconic. Looking back at the time, there are definitely some music lyrics that you've completely forgotten existed so far. From time to time one of these songs will play, in a clothing store or on the radio or in an ironic party playlist, and those words will bring you back to the high school auditorium. Several genres thrived in the late 1990s and early 2000s, and both decades were a growing period for all-rock, rap and hip-hop, and pop music. While some of the most popular songs don't exactly reinvent genres or experiment in new ways, they've certainly been fun. Whether it's Anna Nalick's soft-rock or one of Enrique Inglesias' slow dance staples, you may have forgotten some of these songs. There is no time like the present to hear and remember those letters that, for good or evil, shaped his adolescence. 1 Too Little, Too Late — JoJoLong before Taylor Swift declared that she would never return with an ex, JoJo was writing pop-out hits. Every seventh grader definitely heard this after a high school finish, which everyone knows means no longer sit together in the cafeteria or group dates for the movies. Memorable lyrics: I'll say this now/Your chance has come and gone/And you know/It's too little, too late/And I can't wait2Just the Girl — The Click FiveAtlantic Records on YouTubeIf you forgot, the protagonist's love interest in this song runs on the power of 100-proof attitude. She is therefore still aspirational after all these years. Memorable lyrics: Because she's bittersweet/She takes me off my feet/And I can't help myself/I don't want anyone else3Closing Time — SemisonicAnd this wonder hit doesn't instantly ring a bell, it will come back to you as soon as the piano notes ring. It's everywhere, from the opening credits of the film to the bottom of its fave 2000 television show, and even now it's a hard song to escape. Memorable lyrics: Time to close/Turn on the lights on each and every girl/Closing time/One last call for alcohol then finish your whiskey or beer /Closing time/You don't need to go home, but you can't stay know who I want to take me home. 4 Big Girls Don't Cry — FergieThis song, which was one of Fergie's first tracks after the Black Eyed Peas, was a slow dance staple. Also, can we talk about what is an absolute nostalgia of this video? The placement of the Product Candies! Milo Ventimiglia's fake tattoos! That time was 2006. Memorable lyrics: And I'll miss you as a child loses her blanket / But I have to start a movement with my life / It's time to be a big girl now /And the big girls don't cry5I Gotta Feeling — Black Eyed PeasBlackEyedPeasVEVO on Fergie's YouTubeSpeaking, who could forget this super success of the Black Eyed Peas? In 2009, this was the number one song to get you excited for a night out, and if you weren't tired of it by the end of that year, now is the time to bring it back. Memorable lyrics: A feeling, woo-hoo, that tonight is going to be a good night/That tonight is going to be a good night/That tonight is going to be a good, good night6It's Going to Be Me — NSYNCDDepending on which great boy band of the 2000s was your fave, there may have been a time in your childhood where you knew every word for every NSYNC song. While Bye Bye Bye may be the group's best-known track, for true fans, this song was just as important. Memorable lyrics: Baby, when you finally/Get to love someone/Guess what/It's going to be me/Hand in My Pocket — Alanis MorissetteAlanis Morissette on YouTubeIt's a shame that most of Alanis' songs are now relegated to the background music. It's time to take them off for belt purposes. It's hard to pick the track more worthy of the singer, but this one is definitely up there. Memorable lyrics: "clear your throat" I have one hand in my pocket, the other is giving a high rate-ii-vvvvee8Breathe (2am) — Anna Nalick I admit - this song still gets you thrilled in 2017. Nalick's hit ballad was left for a reason, as it interweaves several sad stories and brings them into a heartfelt chorus. It's the perfect, sad pop song. Memorable lyrics: 'Because you can't skip the track, we're like cars on a cable/And life is like an hourglass, glued to the table/No one can find the rewind button, girl/Then pack your head in your hands And breathe... just breathe/Oh breathe, just breathe 9Hero — Enrique Inglesias EnriqueInglesiasVEVO on YouTubeThis song played at every dance and other school event I went to in elementary and high school. So many clumsy slow dances have been shared with this song, I don't know if I'll forget the lyrics, but maybe you have. Memorable lyrics: I can be your baby hero/I can kiss the pain / I'll stay by your side forever/Do you think Augustana has found where they were going? The chorus of this song traveled throughout the continent of the United States, and even after all this time, it's hard to forget this trip. Memorable lyrics: I think I'm going to Boston/I think tired/I think I need a new city/To leave all this behind11replaceable — Beyoncé While we all bow to Queen B B his last two albums, which are by all the metric masterpieces, you may have forgotten about this radio hit from the earliest years. Beyoncé had so many hits on the parades, but this song was absolutely everywhere in the year she came out. Memorable lyrics: Everything you have in the box on the left/in the closet that are my stuff, yes/If I bought it please don't touch12Hey There Delilah — Plain White T's HollywoodRecordsVEVO on YouTubePlain White T's had a real moment with this track, and it would become your only classic. Despite the wonder status of a hit, this acoustic ballad was a hit, it may be far from completely forgotten. Memorable lyrics: Hey there Delilah/What's it like in New York City?/I'm a miles away/But girl, tonight you look so pretty13American Boy — Estelle Ft. Kanye WestThis song has had so many memorable collabs that it's hard to believe it could have been lost over the decade. John Legend has a stake in the video, and a very young Kanye West appears to drop a verse. This upbeat jam was a lot of fun, and definitely worth listening to again. Memorable lyrics: Take me on a trip, I'd like to go some day /Take me to New York, I'd love to see LA/I really want to come kick with you / You're going to be my American boyThose songs were total classics. my English teacher performed in class today. I want to learn it myself, but I won't see it until next Monday. the lyrics talked about the sound of brakes screaming and breaking glass and screams from people or something, then he starts talking about his love or something. Does anyone know the song? Photo: ShutterstockIf you've noticed the Instagram stories feed looking a little more like custom karaoke videos in the last six months or so, that's because last year 'Gram added a feature that lets you add lyrics to your stories. The addition makes it possible not only to add music to your story (you've been able to do this for a while), but also see these letters on top of the image or video, similar to what you can do with the app TikTok.To add lyrics to your Instagram story, launch the app and then select the camera icon at the top of the screen, just like when you're adding anything else to a story. Then add or take the photo or video you'd like to present in the story. At the risk of irritating Jameela Jamil, I like a good filter. Most Instagram filters, however, are... Read on From there, scroll to music from the bottom menu, then select a song and drag the music bar to the part of the song you'd like to play as part of your story. Above the song, you'll see a button for lyrics. The way letters are displayed can be customized for you. Here are some versions I made on top of a picture of my new friend Donkey.
